Christian Hetzel is a painter based in Oberboihingen, Germany. He earned a graduate diploma of medical informatics from the University of Heidelberg, Germany.

Christian explains the work by saying, "My work focuses on texture and abstract colour(-field) compositions. Most based on traditional media and techniques, such as canvas, paper, timber board, painted with acrylic and mixed media. Besides this, I create also intermedial artworks, this means analog paintings are used for digital modifying process to create a total new artwork. Discreet colors, surface structures and textures of the environment and nature inspire me, creating new abstract compositions or restructured textured paintings. One focus of my work are reduced paintings in colour and texture. The works reflect my attitude of life and of painting 'less is more'. In times of overload of visual impressions, I try to send the viewer on a journey of discovery across the painting surface and sensitive him for the few and less in colour, structures, cracks and textures."
